
Book Review

Lucy's Lamb

Growing up on a dairy farm as a cow crazy kid, and now as a part-time shepherd, I can relate to the excitement Lucy has when she learns her favourite ewe has a lamb. How can she go to school and concentrate when all she wants to do is spend every minute with her new little lamb. Lucy does what every animal crazy kid does and makes the most of her day at school. Carolyn j Morris has used her 4-H and farm experience to make Lucy's Lamb real and believable. Readers will laugh when they hear the new lamb's name! Young readers will learn about sheep and lambs from Carolyn's latest book and there are lots of facts for older readers as well. Don't forget to watch for our favourite characters Chick and Duckling, they drop in to say hi. Richard MacNaughton's illustrations are just beautiful. I cannot wait to share this story with my grandsons and my other favourite young ones. Thank you Carolyn, this book is stunning.

Shelley Barfoot-O'Neill

Mom, Grandma, 4-H Leader, and Farm Advocate